

The evidence is clear: organisations that enable employees to use all of their skills, knowledge and experience at work are more productive, they innovate more and they achieve higher levels of engagement.

How to Create Highly Productive and Great Places to Work

Join our Masterclass on The Essential Fifth Element
Central London: May 2015

Our highly interactive Masterclass provides exciting ways of learning from the experts and from a diverse range of leading-edge workplaces.

The Masterclass will be led by Professor Peter Totterdill, a stimulating, informed and engaging speaker and facilitator. His knowledge and experience cover topical issues from innovative ways of implementing change to the latest thinking and research about the future of work and organisations.

Work Smarter!

European experts explain the what, why and how of workplace innovation

To mark the retirement Palle Banke, one of Denmark's leading protagonists of workplace innovation, the Danish Technological Institute organised a workshop for nearly 100 businesses from across the country.

Speakers included our Peter Totterdill, Uli Pekruhl (Switzerland) and Richard Badham (Australia). Now they have shared their knowledge and experience in a short video. Danish speakers can also enjoy presentations by Lone Thellesen (Dacapo) and Palle himself.

Bringing Knowledge and Practice Together

We're excited about the launch of our new website at www.goodworkplaces.net

For the first time it brings UK WON's pro bono commitment to sharing good practice together with sister company Workplace Innovation Limited's innovative portfolio of consultancy, leadership and employee engagement services.

UK WON, the UK's Work and Organisation Network, is a not for profit organisation established in 1997. We work closely with enterprises, employers' organisations, trade unions, public policymakers and researchers to promote better ways of working through dialogue, networking, research and knowledge sharing and consultancy.

UK WON created Workplace Innovation Limited in 2010 to set new standards for consultancy and organisational learning grounded in research, international experience and ethical standards.
